

SEVEN MADE HOMELESS, 3 FIREMEN INJURED IN $50,000 FIRE SUNDAY AT WARMINSTER; EXPECT ARRESTS

Smoke Seen Emanating from Warminster Dairy Co. Barn as Two Boys Run from Premises—Building Used as Cold Storage Plant—Machinery and 1200 Bushels of Wheat Destroyed—One House on The Premises Also Levelled.

WARMINSTER, Aug. 16.—Fire, believed to have been started by one or two boys playing with matches, caused loss estimated at $50,000, at the Warminster Dairy Farm last evening. A farm-house, a short distance from the barn was also destroyed.

An arrest is expected today, it is stated, two boys having been seen running from the barn when smoke was discovered emanating from the roof.

The barn, one of the largest in Bucks County, was used as a cold storage plant by the Gardenville Dairies, which supplied milk to Hatboro and to many towns in Bucks County.

An expensive cooling system, 1200 bushels of wheat, new farm tractor and other machinery which cannot be replaced at once, were lost.

Seven volunteer fire companies fought the blaze, and remained on the scene throughout the night.

A large farm-house, which made a twin dwelling for two families, was saved. This was occupied by the owner of the farm, Mrs. Wallace Stevens, and the one half by William Staples and family.

The two-story frame house which was destroyed, was located only 20 feet from the barn. It was occupied by Chester and Anna Sligh and their five small children. The five children were taken to Christ Home for the present, and the parents were given shelter by friends. The children taken to Christ Home are: Robert, 8; Phyllis, 6; Richard, 4; Dale, 2; and Carl, 6 months. The Sligh family came to this section one year ago from Ohio. The father is employed as a mechanic by the Brewster Aeronautical Corp., Hatboro.

Three firemen were injured. They are: Joseph Kulp, of the Hatboro Fire Co., burns of the face and hands, taken to Abington Hospital in the Brewster ambulance, where he remains for treatment; LeRoy Lishman, of Warminster Co., overcome by heat and smoke, treated at the scene; Lewis Brooks, of Warminster Company, struck on the head by a falling tree limb and rendered unconscious. He was removed to his home.

The fire was discovered at 6:30 p. m. by Virginia Staples, daughter of William Staples. She saw smoke emanating from the top of the barn, and states she saw two boys running from the barn. The boys, it is said, were recognized, and their names given to Assistant Bucks County Detective William L. Stackhouse, Doylestown. He and Trooper

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT
(Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

"Character Counts"

Washington, Aug. 16. DESPITE qualified denials, obviously, there is some truth in the printed reports that Mr. Sumner Welles will soon be given as assignment by the President necessitating his retirement as Under Secretary of State. For a long time, the strained relations between Mr. Welles and Secretary Cordell Hull have indicated the Welles retirement as desirable.

PREMATURE publication may postpone it a while but, in the opinion of many, the step has been determined upon by Mr. Roosevelt and is delayed only until it can be taken with dignity. This will not disguise from those who know the facts that it is a forced resignation.

BENSALEM WOMAN, 48, DIES VERY SUDDENLY

Mrs. Charles Vansant Found in Dying Condition in Basement

FROM OVER-EXERTION

Blamed on over-exertion, death came suddenly on Saturday morning for Mrs. Alice Ashworth Vansant, widow of Charles Vansant, at her home on Hulmeville Road, Bensalem Township.

Mrs. Vansant, 48 years of age, was found in a dying condition when a coal delivery-man went into the basement of the Vansant home, while placing coal there. He found Mrs. Vansant on the floor, and realized that her condition was grave. He called members of the household to come to her aid, and a physician was summoned, but death occurred within a few minutes.

Mrs. Vansant had been moving materials from the bin to make room for the coal. It is stated, and it is believed over-exertion was the cause of her sudden demise.

Mrs. Vansant, husband of the deceased, died about 11 years ago. The woman is survived by a daughter, Mildred, and three sons, Dr. Henry Vansant, William, and Charles, Jr., all of Bensalem Township. A half-sister, Mrs. Martha Grafenstine, of Eddington, also survives.

The deceased was a member of Bensalem Methodist Church; and

FARMERS HOPE FOR RAIN TO RELIEVE DRY CROPS

Majority of Truck Farms Are Badly in Need of Rain

TOMATOES UNDER PAR

Bucks county farmers are hoping for a steady rain to bring relief to the crops, which, according to County Agent William F. Greenawalt, are at the point of showing the result of the drought.

A majority of the truck farms are badly in need of rain, and tomatoes, beans, celery, beets and cabbage are beginning to feel the effect of the lack of moisture.

According to Mr. Greenawalt, the tomatoes, the main crop of which remains to be harvested, are not developing because of the lack of moisture, and because of the intense heat, many of the tomatoes are beginning to sun scald. Mr. Greenawalt pointed out this morning that a steady rain even though it might be only for about half a day, will be of great benefit to the vegetables.

As a result of the drought, truck farmers in the lower part of the county have been operating their irrigation systems day and night the past three weeks.

Farmers, it was pointed out this morning, should be making preparations for the seeding of alfalfa and winter barley, but they are unable to plow because the ground is too dry. Truckers also find it almost impossible to cultivate their patches.

Mr. Greenawalt is of the opinion that the fruit crop has not as yet felt the result of the drought because of the deep root system of the trees.

Although a large number of the smaller streams throughout the county have been exhausted of their water supply, Mr. Greenawalt has not heard that there is a shortage of water in the wells.

FORMER BRISTOL RESIDENT TAKES OVER JOB OF FEEDING SCORES OF HUNGRY CADETS EVERY WEEK-END AT CAMP RAUNCHY GRANDE

When officers at Hondo Army Air Field, Hondo, Texas, went searching for a camp where tired navigation cadets could relax on week-ends, they found more than they bargained for—Raymond Jobson from Bristol, Pa. Jobson, an engineer by occupation, a novelist by desire, and an erstwhile chef of necessity, was living at the camp site on beautiful Lake Medina, just 30 miles from the navigation air-base.

Resting and writing a novel was his chief engagement until the Army came along. It seems that the depression in the early 1930's found Jobson an unemployed engineer eager for work. He landed a job with a chain of restaurants and automats operating some 500 eateries throughout the East. He learned to manage restaurants and he learned big-scale cooking.

Hondo Army Air Field found out about his culinary skill. A deal was made and Jobson took over the job of feeding scores of hungry cadets every week-end. As matre de hotel at Camp Raunchy Grande, Jobson directs the work of two other cooks plus a corps of high school boys doing kitchen police, and supervises other jobs around the camp. The cadets sing his praises as a chef. Food is served family-style at long tables on the screened-in porch overlooking the lake. The cool, fresh air, delightful surroundings and vigorous exercise make for healthy appetites that appreciate Jobson's efforts.

The versatile Jobson can talk the language of these young fliers, too. His engineering training led him to Bristol, Pa., several years ago, where he worked on Fleetwings BT-12 planes. Last February, threatened with a nervous breakdown, Jobson went to Lake Medina, Tex., to rest and work on a long-contemplated book.

His presence there has turned out well all the way around. The cadets are happy over the food situation, navigation school officers are completely satisfied with the arrangements, and Jobson is pleased with his war work, has recovered his health and is adding to his novel.

One Man's Opinion

By Walter Kiernan
(I. N. S. Staff Writer)

Well, a little while ago we had potatoes spoiling by the carload because a government agency wouldn't permit icing. Now it's the shrimp catch that's in danger of spoiling.

What are they doing with all the ice anyway? Shipping it to Iceland?

We tried to get the information out of an ice man and he just stood there picking his teeth with his tongue, smiling mysteriously and saying "Wouldn't Hitler like to know?"

In New Orleans, supply boat crews marched on an ice plant and took over the whole production to ice up ten shrimp boats. That was the only way they could get ice.

It doesn't make any sense to us. Are they going to bomb Europe or freeze it?

Don't tell us they've given Ickes secret control over the ice ponds?

Anybody but old Harold the Herald.

He's too hot a boy to be running the ice industry.

Thought—for the day: What this country needs is a good five cent piece of ice.

HOUSING PROJECT SUPT ATTACKED BY FIVE MEN

Richard Sharp, Belmar, N. J., Beaten at Bristol Terrace in Wage Dispute

ANDALUSIA MAN HURT

Five colored men are alleged to have been implicated in an attack on Richard Sharp, white, Belmar, N. J., who is a superintendent of the Federal Housing Project at Bristol Terrace No. 2. The attack occurred Saturday morning when the men were being paid off. Police say that a shortage of 60 cents was the cause of the fight.

The five colored men jumped into an automobile and made their getaway. They are known, however, and warrants have been issued naming three and listing the other two as "unidentified." The names of the latter two will be given to the police today, it is expected.

According to Chief Bucks County Detective Anthony Russo, the men were paid Saturday morning. There appeared to be a shortage of 60 cents in the envelope of Fletcher McNeal, colored, Trenton, N. J. McNeal began to argue with Sharp over the shortage and was informed by Sharp that the shortage would be adjusted as soon as he had time to make a check-up at the office on the project. Then police say that William Relsay and Lieutenant Finney, also colored, of Trenton, became involved in the dispute and the five attacked Sharp. Sharp suffered a lacerated jaw and lip. Fists and clubs were brought into play.

Richard Crowther, white, Andalusia, was struck with a hammer by one of the men.

ALLIED ARMIES NEAR ITALIAN MAINLAND

Allied Headquarters in North Africa—Allied armies in northeastern Sicily today smashed to within artillery range of the evacuation port of Messina and the Italian mainland after an authoritative source declared the end of operations in Sicily is imminent.

The British Eighth Army drove rapidly northward after seizing Taormina, former Axis military headquarters 27 miles south of Messina, and in an inland sweep overran the towns of Kagzi and Castiglione.

America's Seventh Army gained positions within 18 air miles of Messina along the north coast as Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's troops pushed steadily eastward to the Milazzo area.

The rapid retreat of the Germans turned from an orderly withdrawal over the week-end into speedy flight which in some sectors amounted to a rout.

Captured documents disclosed that two Italian coastal regiments had been given orders to hold a last foothold around Messina to cover the German Dunkirk evacuation. The final cleanup and occupation of Messina, however, appeared no more distant than a day or two.

BOMBERS BATTER MILAN

London—Allied bombers today followed up an early morning British raid on the battered Italian industrial city of Milan with forceful new attacks on Axis dominated Europe.

Speedy bombers hit again at Berlin during the night while Milan was subjected to a new 60-minute assault believed to be the heaviest yet on that industrial target in industrial Italy.

Swiss eyewitness accounts declared the Milan attack was the heaviest ever hurled against Italy. A Rome communique admitted "grave" damage as a result of the assault.

Ten British bombers and two fighters failed to return from the raids on Milan, Berlin and "intruder" attacks on enemy airfields and rail targets in France and the low countries, said the air ministry, which also reported "extensive" mine-laying in enemy waters. At least three Axis interceptors were shot down.

PHILA. YOUTH DROWNS WHILE CANOEING IN RIVER

Francis Cawley, 18, Arrived at Sister's Bungalow Half-Hour Before Tragedy

MOTHER IS WIDOW

Youth Had Just Taken Position After Being Re-Classified 4-F

EDDINGTON, Aug. 16.—A Philadelphia youth was drowned early Saturday evening while bathing with two of his brothers and within sight of a bungalow occupied by his sister and brother-in-law, here. The victim:

Francis Cawley, 18, 3535 Frankford avenue.

The scene of the drowning was off the property of Columbus Country Club at about seven o'clock.

Valiant efforts were made by rescue squads to revive the youth but all such efforts failed. He was pronounced dead by Dr. James Lawler, of Bristol, and deputy coroner, Alfred Rigby, Cornwells Heights, viewed the body.

The body was recovered from the Delaware River by Charles Cain and some friends who were on Cain's sailboat anchored nearby.

Cawley and two of his brothers, Thomas, 20; James, 16, came here from the Philadelphia home of their mother, Margaret, to spend the week-end with their brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Corcoran. The trio arrived at the bungalow of the Corcorans which is on part of the Columbus Country Club property at about 6:30. They went immediately to the "water," said Mrs. Corcoran. "Francis had just taken a position with the Philco Company having just been re-classified as 4F, after having been expecting to leave for service in the army Tuesday."

The three boys got into a canoe and went out about 100 feet off shore. There is a decided drop off the shore at this point and the water is said to be 12 feet deep where the boy was drowned.

Neither Thomas or James could

THIRD WAR LOAN

Although the war news from Europe is favorable to the Allied cause, and has generated a tendency to let down, its real lesson has become evident as more complete reports have been received. This lesson is that the war in Europe is at least half a war of supply, and that the productive capacity of the United States is the answer to the supply problem.

While dollar value is not a true measure of supply, it provides a fair basis for comparison. In the fiscal year that ended June 30, 1942, the United States spent $71,000,000 a day on the war; in the fiscal year that ended June 30, this year, it spent $198,000,000 a day, and the estimate is that during the current fiscal year it will spend $265,000,000 a day.

The war cost to this country is now at the rate of approximately $800 a year for every man, woman and child in America.

In September, the treasury will go to the people again for money—the Third War loan. The fact that the last goal was exceeded affords hope that the September goal will be reached, but it will not be reached unless the people buy more bonds than they have bought heretofore. The money is available in the country. The organization to carry the message to the people is in good working order.

It is up to every American to begin now to improve his War Bond buying power so that when the drive is started he will be prepared to do his part. He should be as ready to go forward when the word comes as men in the armed services must be when they are ordered to attack.

"We want to negotiate but we don't want to capitulate," is the wail emanating from the Italian press and radio. Badoglio seems to have missed the point that he is not in a position to negotiate, and has no alternative to capitulation. Italy must surrender unconditionally or suffer continued attacks which will grow in intensity with each day until Italy is a mass of smoking ruins.

A defeated nation, Italy must accept whatever terms the United Nations desire to give her, or accept the consequences. Badoglio still seems to think that his country is a fighting force, and greater error was never made by a head of state. In attempting to continue in authoritarian ways, he ignores the realities of the situation.

There is too much talk of Italy's "honor," but the word is being defined according to the old Fascist-Nazi rules which are now outworn. When the Italian government comes to the realization that honor is only to be regained by ceasing to war against the democracies and by returning to the paths of international honesty and decency, she will be given assistance in her ascent to a civilized status.

Unless Italy submits quickly to the victors, she will suffer as Germany is now suffering from rains of bombs which will obliterate her cities, and from invasion which will take control of her territory.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

By Courier Staff Member

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol December 1, 1881. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

Yesterday morning the thickest fog that has occurred for a number of years hung over this part of the country. Navigation on the river was rendered very difficult, and the Columbia did not reach Philadelphia until 11 o'clock. Fog bells, fog horns, and whistles had to be used to indicate the whereabouts of sailing and steam vessels. On her down trip the Columbia found the steamer Gratitude ashore on a bar shortly after she started. The Columbia got a line to her, but it broke, and she was left stranded. Captain Cone offered to take off the Gratitude's passengers and convey them down to the city, but the captain of the stranded boat thought they were comfortable enough, and would not allow it, so the Columbia proceeded on her trip.

Charles E. Scheide, one of the proprietors of the Bristol Rolling Mills, was a delegate to the Tariff Convention in session in New York this week.

On Tuesday evening a scene, such as is rarely witnessed, occurred passed each other going at the rate of about 17 miles an hour. The west-bound train had passed about half of the train going towards New York when the engineer of the latter heard a crash, then the engine almost stood still, quivering all over. In a moment, however, it dashed ahead as if relieved of a portion of its load, springing away with such velocity as to almost hurl the engineer from his cab. At the same time the most terrible screams were heard among the cattle, sounding almost human in their agony. As soon as possible the engine was stopped and the fireman ran back to see what was the matter. The sight that greeted him was terrible. About 25 cars with their loads of cattle seemed to have been torn into atoms and strewn in heaps over and on each side of the railroad tracks. Among the debris were between 50 and 60 cattle, some already dead and ripped completely open, others just dying, and still others with limbs broken or otherwise badly injured, uttering the most pitiable moans and cries. By this time the engine of the west-bound freight train, which had run some distance ahead, had backed down to the scene and it was soon discovered what caused the wreck. When the two trains had almost passed each other an axle on one of the cars of the freight train running west had broken, throwing the car forward off the track, over against the eastbound cattle train. The engines and forward halves of each train escaped injury, but the rear portions were almost completely destroyed. Immediately following the accident, the men at hand began to move the debris from the tracks, first killing most of the suffering cattle. When work had been going on for a short time the groans of one of the brakemen were heard, and a moment afterward they discovered Walter Bache, a resident of this borough, who was found buried beneath the debris. It is now believed that a broken thigh is the most serious result of the accident. He was removed to the hospital in Philadelphia.

Quick Tricks In Fresh Vegetable Cookery

Gone with the can is the art of short-cut cookery. Back to the sink and the range we go. Ahead for all of us is some good old-fashioned cooking.

Biggest blow to short-cut cooks is the curtailed stock of canned vegetables. For most women have learned more heavily of late on the food processors' skill with vegetables than their own kitchen cunning.

Meantime, though—while we've been wielding the opener and branding the can—food scientists have brushed up their cooking methods, discovered short-cut tricks.

Less time is needed now, less water used, less fuel than when you last cooked fresh vegetables. Short cuts in preparation, and quick cooking in just a little water are the newest rules.

Epures have taught us how to serve and season, too—advise herbs, sauces, condiments to enhance fresh vegetable flavors. Here is a comprehensive, up-to-date course in vegetable cookery. Clip and consult frequently.

Asparagus
Wash well. Cut scales from base. Break off woody ends. Steam whole until tender. Or, when cut in pieces, cook stalks 10 minutes, then add tips and cook 5-10 minutes longer. Serve with milk, butter, or vitaminized margarine.

Beets
Pare, then shred or dice. Steam in 1/2 cup water. If shredded will take 15-20 minutes. Diced, require 25-30 minutes. Season with basil, summer savory, or fennel. Serve with vinegar sauce or Harvard sauce.

Broccoli
Wash and trim leaves and tough stems. Split stems lengthwise. Tie in portion-sized bundles. Using deep pan stand upright in 1 inch water. Cover and steam 10-20 minutes. Serve with hollandaise sauce, mayonnaise, or enriched margarine.

Brussels Sprouts
Wash. Trim stems and leaves. Cut x mark in ends of stems. Steam until tender, 15-20 minutes. Serve with butter or vitaminized margarine.

Cabbage
Wash, trim, and shred. Steam 8-12 minutes. Serve with ketchup sauce, or season with mint, carrot, or fennel.

Carrots
Remove tops, wash, pare, or scrape. Cut in crosswise slices. Steam 12-20 minutes. Serve with butter, vitaminized margarine, or

We thank Thee, O Father, that Thou art a just God. We see so much of human injustice in this day, as so many innocent people are brought to suffering and so many of the weak have their few possessions taken from them. We thank thee that in thine eyes might is not the important thing, but rightness of spirit is the vital necessity. Canst thou so to live that in the day of final judgment we shall be found righteous in thy sight, not because of our own innocence, but because of the righteousness of Christ imputed to us and received by faith alone. Made with the cooperation of the United States Air Corps, "Air Force," which opened yesterday at the Bristol, is one of the most exciting dramas of heroism that the screen has yet given us. "Young and Beautiful" is also showing.

Pennsylvania's coal is going to war. Coal is furnishing the fuel to run our factories, our railroads and to smelt our steel. It is also being transformed into a key war material, "Plastics."

Shatterproof substances clearer than glass are made from coal. Lenses, dials, gun turrets, and noses for bombers are all being rolled or shaped from this new material.

FRANKLIN A. C. BEATS TACONY IN INDEPENDENT GAME

Bristol Nine Defeats Tacony Boys' Club on The Latter's Field

FINAL SCORE IS 8 TO 4

Victory Shattered A 20-Game Winning Streak For Tacony

Franklin A. C., twice champions of the Bristol Youth League, played an independent game with the Tacony Boys' Club yesterday afternoon on the latter's field and won easily, the final score being: Franklin, 8; Tacony Boys' Club, 4.

The victory shattered a 20-game winning streak of the Tacony team and increased the Franklin winning streak to nine straight.

Backed by fine fielding, Joe Sagolla did a fine job on the hill, holding the Tacony boys to six hits. His mates had three errors but none of these hurt. Sagolla also helped himself to three bingles in four trips to the plate while Leo Johnson and "Toby" Oriola both had a pair of safe blows.

Four Major Changes In Employment Law

classified by WMC and Selective Service as a non-deferrable status.

4. Statements of availability are to be issued by the USES upon request to any workers, in any establishments, who are being paid sub-standard wages.

Penalties are made definitely applicable to employers and workers alike involved in changes of jobs at higher rates of pay in violation of employment stabilization plans. The penalties are fines up to $100 and imprisonment up to one year. In addition an employer who violates this provision is prohibited from including any part of wages paid in violation as part of his operating costs for income tax purposes or for profit determinations.

STEADY KEN - - - - - By Jack Sords

All plans in the tri-state region already contain a provision that any newcomer to an area may be employed only upon referral by USES, regardless of whether he has a statement of availability. A newcomer, or in-migrant, is defined as a person who has not lived or worked for 30 days within the area in which he seeks employment.

Present regional and area stabilization plans remain in effect until the amended plans are adopted, which the manpower director said, will be approximately September 15.

McNamee said the Regional Management-Labor War Manpower Committee will meet on Monday, August 23, for consultation on the exact form in which changes in the regional plan will be made. These changes then will be effected promptly and will serve as a guide for area action.

The WMC area directors will call their management-labor committee together promptly after the regional action has been taken and then will proceed to draft necessary or optional changes in their plans. These must be submitted for approval to the regional director.

One effect of the new manpower regulation, McNamee pointed out, is that activities which are paying their employees sub-standard wages as defined by the War Labor Board will lose WMC protection in holding their workers unless they adjust the wages of their employees to standard levels. WMC must issue statements of availability to persons receiving sub-standard wages.

The WMC is strengthened also in obtaining compliance with all of its stabilization plans, regulations and policies by a provision in the new regulation which authorizes the Commission to give statements of availability to any employee whose employer is violating the WMC rules, after notice and hearing establishing a violation.

McNamee said he expects a heavy and immediate movement of men on the non-deferrable and critical occupation lists into war jobs and has ordered all U. S. Employment Service offices to remain open at night during the early part of this week, and to continue evening hours as long as the volume of applicants justifies this.

The Bristol office of the U. S. Employment Service will be open from six to nine o'clock on Monday and Tuesday evenings.

She wants to win an unpopularity contest!

Elizabeth Jenkins seeks title of "Most hated by Axis in 1943!"

THE AXIS has probably never heard of Miss Elizabeth Jenkins—but she's doing her level best to change that!

For example:

Elizabeth works in an essential industry thereby releasing, in effect, a fighting man. And out of the salary she draws for that work she puts 22% into War Bonds, through the Payroll Savings Plan. She figures that her investment may help to maintain the three fighting men who are closest to her—her two brothers and her father.

"They're fighting for me, so the least I can do is to help buy the tools they fight with!" says Elizabeth.

Her father commands a brigade of the North Carolina State Guard. He saw action overseas in the last war and his stories have made Elizabeth keenly aware of the importance of her investment in War Bonds. Her father has explained that no matter how much spirit and fight a soldier has, he needs the best equipment that money can buy. He has also pointed out that American soldiers are the best equipped in the world.

Miss Jenkins wants to keep them that way, because in addition to her father, she has two brothers in the Army.

Lieutenant Tom is an anti-aircraft artilleryman. Captain Jack is in the Air Corps. So Elizabeth is reasonably sure that in one way or another, the Axis will hear from the Jenkins family in the near future. It makes no difference to Elizabeth whether her War Bond investment buys bombs or shells—either one will get her a few more votes for the title she's seeking.

Are you doing as much for America's future as Elizabeth Jenkins? Are you as anxious as she is to get the war over and get the war won? Every dollar you can lend hurries Victory, so . . .

Weren't there a few more dollars in your last pay envelope that could have gone into War Bonds—but didn't? Get out a pencil right now, and see if you can't boost the percentage you're putting aside for Uncle Sam—and yourself!
